RE: UPDATED NSW HEALTH DIRECTIVES

Dear All,

We are writing in follow-up to our communications issued to you on 8 January regarding the directives published by NSW Health. Please be advised that NSW Health have updated their directives as of 14 January 2021 and masks will continue to be required for all those accessing residential aged care centres in New South Wales. In addition, visitors from restricted areas will continue to be excluded.

For your reference, we are including a link to these new directives dated 14 January 2021. We ask that you review the information contained within the following NSW Health link and continue to check the link should the information be updated given the rapidly changing situation that is the COVID-19 pandemic.

We will be continuing with our current restrictions in alignment with these directives and Risk Level 4 on our internal Risk Assessment Matrix. We thank you for your understanding and continued vigilance as we navigate this situation together in support of our residents, your loved ones and our staff members. If you have any questions, please get in touch with your Centre Manager.

Kind regards,
